

Managing Client Costs During Patent Disputes

That UK courts offer a high-quality investigation into the issues arising in a patent dispute is without doubt. That the judgments delivered are both well-reasoned and comprehensive is globally recognised. What about the cost to the client of obtaining that service? This article considers some of the factors that influence costs and how they can be controlled.

This article was originally published as part of IAM's Europe, Middle East and Africa Patent Litigation Review 2025 and can be accessed on their site here.

For more information, please contact:

John Hornby – jhornby@jakemp.com